

CONSERVATIVE

MODEL PERFORMANCE SHEET SEPT 2019

MODEL OBJECTIVE

The conservative portfolio is a low risk portfolio with a large allocation to defensive assets. This portfolio is suitable for investors who are sensitive to short-term losses, but who still have the likely goal of beating expected inflation over the long run. The DLSCM conservative portfolio should have an expected return that outpaces cash by approximately 3% over a 10-year holding period. There should be growth in the real value of assets over the long run, while minimizing risk.

COMMENTARY

Over the last three months we have seen an uptick in market volatility. The quarter was marked by a continued slowdown in the global economic data, offset by further monetary easing from the US and Europe. Global equities were broadly flat for the quarter. The MSCI World returned 3.9% in EUR.

In Europe, the European Central Bank cut rates, restarted quantitative easing and committed to continue with asset purchases until it achieves its inflation target. The ECB's policy easing came against a backdrop of weakening growth, with the business surveys for September painting a picture of an economy that continues to slow, particularly in the manufacturing sector. MSCI Europe ex UK returned 2.19% in EUR for Q3.

In the UK, the seemingly never-ending Brexit saga dragged on, with parliament passing legislation that will force the government to ask for an extension if it can't agree a deal with the EU. This sent sterling higher, before the prime minister suspended parliament, only for the suspension to be ruled unlawful.

In the US, the Federal Reserve cut interest rates in July and September in an attempt to prolong the economic expansion in the face of a slowdown in the pace of growth and hiring. Consumer confidence also declined from elevated levels. US equities delivered 4.7% over the quarter in EUR.

The trade war also continued to play a prominent role in financial headlines throughout the quarter. Further tariffs are due to come into place by the end of the year unless renewed talks between the US and China make sufficient progress. Further tariffs may hurt the global economy, so it's set to be another quarter of carefully monitoring the developments on trade.
